Novated leasing for individuals

Interleasing provides a novated leasing service, which manages the operation and maintenance of a novated lease for individuals. A novated lease is a three way agreement between an employer, employee and lease company - the employee leases a vehicle from the lease company and the employer agrees to take on the employee's obligations under the lease.

Media Backgrounder

Novated leasing can be a tax-effective way for an employee to purchase a vehicle, depending on the type of vehicle, kilometres travelled annually, FBT method used and employee's salary. Only the value of the vehicle is subject to Fringe Benefits Tax, and a member of the Interleasing team is always on hand to provide you with expert advice on how to make the most of your novated lease.

For a novated lease, all maintenance, fuel, insurance and lease costs can be taken out of pre-tax income – regardless of the level of business use. Under current tax laws novated leasing is the most cost effective method available today to drive the car of your choice. In many situations a novated lease can save an individual several thousand dollars each year when compared to running a vehicle using after tax income.

Is Interleasing 'green'?

Interleasing is a Carbon Neutral accredited organisation – they measure, reduce and offset our carbon emissions. Interleasing partners with Carbon Planet to deliver this reduction, and is one of the first fleet management companies to become carbon neutral. Within three years Interleasing is aiming to reduce its emissions by 35 % and they are currently investigating other ways to encourage customers to become green organisations.

One initiative being implemented is eco-driving: all Interleasing staff are undergoing eco-driving training to reduce the environmental footprint of their driving activities.
